The engine since v11.283.7

- 562cfff0b T-267/T-268: read an entry in battle before binding; day and night
- 77f2585bc T-266: the STREAM badge says STREAM again

The design and tools since v11.283.7

- 8a5b205b v11.284: day and night decided and built (9.21); reading is not keeping (4.2)
- b4c92496 T-266 closed: the STREAM badge says STREAM again (tools/gbainkpaper.py maps the badge by role)
- db89a507 ROM release v11.283.7: the terminal never repeats; the cartridge's clock

The cartridge's clock, and what the user decided with it

- Day and night, built (9.21, T-268): the real clock when the cartridge has one (T-265), play time when not — dusk, night and dawn tint the outdoor maps and the people on them, as each palette loads; HALFTONE stays grey. On Routes 1, 8, 10 and 12 the day's bird sleeps and LATENT comes out — DANGLING, and RESPAWN on 12, at the same levels and odds. OPAQUE waits for the GLOBAL INDEX: none of it is in the first 151. DEBUG → WATCH forces a watch, so night can be checked at noon.
- Reading is not keeping (4.2, T-267): in a battle, L reads the whole entry of the daemon in front of you, bound or not; the INDEX still shows ????? until you bind it.
- The terminal never repeats itself, and reads the clock (T-264, T-265): HELP and TUNE draw from every answer but the last; TIME shows CLOCK and the date, DRAFT. The game only reads the clock.
- The STREAM's badge says STREAM again (T-266): T-209's recolour had put its letters and its cloud on the same grey.
